This was a signal for an uprising of Hindman's friends. All votes of the caucus were thrown aside, and a new vote was taken, in which Hindman was successful. Prominent Blackford county Democrats now predict defeat for the ticket.

Not a Democratic Victory.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. NORTH VERNON, Ind., May 3.-The city election, while it resulted in the defeat of W. S. Prather, the Republican canpidate for Mayor, was not a Democratic victory by any means. The Republican candidate for city marshal was elected by 133 majority, which represents the real party strength. Guy L. Tripp, the Republican councilman in the First ward, was elected by eighty-two majority, and the Republican candidates for city clerk and city treasurer were both elected by handsome majorities. The vote on Mayor turned entirely upon personal matters and was in no way connected with partisanship. The Republican candidate was badly handicapped by being a candidate for a fourth successive term, and had unfortunately become embroiled in a factional quarrel with part of the Republican leaders, matters which finally culminated in his defeat by a small majority. The Republicans of this city and county are active and wide awake on State and national issues and will go into the fall campaign determined to poll

It Was a Cooper Victory. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

COLUMBUS, Ind., May 3.-There was a hard fight between the Cooper and anti-Cooper forces at Nashville to-day, the occasion being the joint Senator and judicial conventions for the Ninth judicial circuit. The hand of Cooper showed up strongly, and, in consequence of this fact, the Cooper forces here are jubilant to-night and have taken on new courage. William Shea, of this city, was nominated for State's attorney and John W. Cravens, of Monroe county, for joint Senator. The "other fellows" who were left out are very hot and there is trouble ahead.

Brookshire Is Tricky. TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 3.-The Democratic committee of this congressional district met here to-day and fixed the place for the convention at Covington, Fountain county, and July 25 as the date. The sigficance in selecting Covington lies in the fact that it is the most inconvenient place access for Terre Haute people. Terre Haute Democrats of the Lamb following, while not openly opposing Brook-shire's renomination, are not his friends. Two Conventions.

KOKOMO, Ind., May 3.-The senatorial convention for Howard and Miami counties will meet at Peru Tuesday, May 15. to select a candidate for State Senator, a successor to R. J. Loveland, of Peru. The Republican judicial convention for the district comprising the counties of Howard and Tipton will be held at Tipton next Tuesday, May 8.

Clay's Congressional Candidate. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

BRAZIL, Ind., May 3 .- Republicans of this county are urging that Hon. E. S. Holliday, of this city, be nominated as candidate for Congress in the Eighth district. He is a lawyer, fifty years of age, has a good war record, and, his friends claim, ossesses more than usual qualifications for the position.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., May 3.-The Democratic senatorial convention of the district composed of Monroe, Brown and Bartholomew counties, met at Nashville to-day and nominated John W. LONDON, May 3.-Mr. Gladstone, the Duke of Cambridge, Cardinal Vaughn and other notabilities were present at a meeting to-day at Prince's Hall, called for the purpose of arranging for the erection of a memorial in honor of the late Sir Andrew Clark, the famous physician, who counted among his distinguished patients Mr. Gladstone and Queen Victoria. The ex-premier received an ovation. It was evident that he had not quite recovered from his cold, and he was compelled to remain seated as he moved that a memorial be established in order to perpetuate Sir Andrew Clark's name and work. Mr. Gladstone eulogized the deceased physician, saying that it would have been a standing grief and mortification to him if he had been prevented tification to him if he had been prevented taking part in the meeting. He had known many distinguished physicians during his three score years, and had seen a great change in their capacity, attainment and competency to deal with the difficult and almost insolvable problems which were constantly pressing themselves upon the minds of the members of the medical profession. In conclusion Mr. Gladstone said that Sir Andrew Clark loved his profession with chivalrous devotion, Mr. Gladstone's with chivalrous devotion. Mr. Gladstone's motion was carried, and it was also decided to erect a wing to a London hospital, the new wing to bear the name of Sir Andrew Trial of Directors and Officers of the Banco Romana Begun.

ROME, May 3 .- The trial of the directors and officers of the Banco Romana began yesterdayin the Court of Assizes. It involves not only officers of the bank but politicians whose standing, prior to the flight of director Cuciniello with 2,500,000 lire belonging to the Rome branch of the Bank of Naples tion. The investigation, which covered all the banks, showed the utmost confusion in other institutions. The cash deficit of the Banco Romana was 28,600,000 lire and the illegal notes of that bank's issue, since 1883, had reached 64,500,000 lire. A large part of this money is said to have been given to prominent politicians in order to secure their election and support.

Signor Tanlongo, governor of the Banco Romana: Cesare Lazzaroni, the cashier of the bank; Signor Monzillo Zammarano, and three others, were arrested in connection with these disclosures, but Lazzaroni, Tanlongo and others were acquitted. The scan-dal resulted in the appointment of an official commission to investigate the whole subject. This commission reported last November, inculpating Pietro Lacava, Minister of Commerce, and the following Deputies: Pietro Delbecchio, a close friend of ex-Premier Giolitti; Filippo Cavallini, Duke Gennaro Di San Donato; Augusto Elia, Baron Giovanni Nicotera, Minister of the Interior under Crispi; Signor Bruno Chimirri, ex-Minister of Agriculture and of Jus-tice, and a number of others. The prosecution of the directors and officers of the Banco Romana was then ordered. The hearing will last several days.

AFFAIRS IN HAWAII.

Two Views of Admiral Walker's Mission-Royalists Quarreling. SAN FRANCISCO, May 3 .- The Chronicle prints the following Honolulu correspondence, under date of April 15, received via Port Townsend by the United States "News of the appointment of Admiral

Walker to succeed Admiral Irwin, and the announcement of the intent of the United States to take possession of Pearl harbor and establish a coaling and naval station, received here on the 10th by vessel, followed by the arrival of Admiral Walker two days later, has set the populace to talking, and many conjectures are being made as to the result of the Admiral's appointment and instructions. The royalist papers declare that the Admiral comes for the purpose of taking possession of Pearl harbor, and that as soon as it is accom-plished he will proceed to organize a new government. They even go so far as to say that Admiral Walker will restore the ex-Queen to the throne. The provisional government and annexation press construed Admiral Walker's appointment and presence to mean that the United States has had a change of heart, and that the government, in assuming control of Pearl har-bor, sets at rest all doubt as to the course of the United States toward Hawaii and ultimate annexation. This view is based on reports and advices received from the Hawaiian minister at Washington, Thus far Admiral Walker has not given out FRIEDRICHSRUHE, May 3 .- A deputation consisting of five hundred representatives from fifteen military clubs of southern Holstein presented Prince Bismarck to-day with an address of sympathy. Prince Bismarck replied, thanking his visitors for calling upon him and comparing the present peaceful relations existing between Holstein and Germany to those of the past. The ex-Chancellor added that he was unable to understand the contention of his opponents that he aspired to rank and titles. He had not heard that any ovations such as those he had been the recipient of since his retirement from public life had ever previously occurred.

A Murderous Anarchist.

LONDON, May 3.-The trial of Farnaro and Polti, the foreign Anarchists recently arrested in this city, was commenced this morning at the Old Bailey, before Justice Hawkins. Farnaro, when asked the usual questions as to his guilt or innocence, replied in Italian: "Guilty. I wanted to kill some capitalists." Polti, in reply to the same question, answered in English that he was not guilty. A moment later Farnaro added, with emphasis: "Yes, I am guilty. I intended to blow up some capitalists and bourgeois."

LIEGE, May 3 .- A bomb was exploded tonight at the residence of Dr. Renson, in the Rue de la Paix. The basement of the building was shattered, and Dr. Renson and his wife were injured. The shock also caused the breaking of windows in the houses in the vicinity. There is no clew to the person who caused the outrage. Dr. Renson is not connected with politics, and, as far as known, has no enemies.

THE MAY MUSIC FESTIVAL.

Progress of the Sale of Seats for This Event.

The advance sale of season tickets for the May music festival is now in progress at the Big Four ticket office, No. 1 East Washington street. It began yesterday morning, with a steady demand throughout the day, and will continue to-day and tomorrow. A comparatively small portion of the patrons of the festival buy season tickets, but this year the average is greater than in previous years, a condition of affairs that the directors regard as unusually encouraging. There is every reason to expect an enormously large sale of seats for single concerts when it opens next Monday morning, and arrangements are being made to wait on would-be purchasers of seats expeditiously. the celebrated Chairman Voorhees will not be sixtyseven until next September, but he has worked so hard and so intensely all of his life, and with so much disregard of the laws of health that he has aged greatly during the last few years, passing through one illness after another, the grip having made him one of its first victims, and having brought out all of the weak spots in his system. The speech which he read at the beginning of the tariff debate was not like the speeches which he used to deliver, although those who heard for the first time thought him a fiery and forcible speaker. Paine. a veteran newspaper man of that city, who has had progressive paralysis for a number of years, and has recently suffered the loss of a devoted wife under peculiarly painful conditions. Mr. Paine has been a striking figure in Indianapolis newspaper life for many years, and is probably the best beloved member of a large journalistic circle. Young and old scribblers, strugglers and successful ones, have always found in him a cheery and a genial companion. A woman once dedicated a book to him as "The only man I ever knew who was good enough to be a woman, and this well-meant tribute exposed the subject to much jesting, and even a satirical poem from the pen of another veteran, who was not gifted with any such feminine recommendations. The Chairman of the County Officers' Association Explains.

The Origin of the Anti-Coffey Circular -5,000 Copies Were Printed, but They Were Not Circulated.

To the Editor of the Indianapolis Journal: I request that you give the County Officers' Association of the State of Indiana space in your paper to at least refute part of the charges made against said organization for the defeat of Judge S. D. Coffey for renomination to the Supreme Bench of Indiana, and I deem it proper to relate the history of our actions in the case. After the decision of the Supreme Court had been published in the case of J. W. Stout vs. Henderson I called a meeting of the county officers to assemble at Indianapolis on Feb. 7, 1894, to consult and determine on a line of action. The only conclusion arrived at was to bring additional suits in behalf of the auditors, treasurers and recorders, as the Supreme Court, in its finding in the Stout case, declined to decide their case upon the claim of J. W. Stout, then pending before said court, and we further decided to ask for a rehearing of the Stout case. As soon as we adjourned some papers of your city raised the clamor that we had decided at that meeting to organize to defeat Judge Coffey and to organize the Legislature in our behalf. These charges were absolutely incorrect, but their publication had its effect upon the masses, for, in making a personal canvass of the State to raise funds necessary to bring the above suits, the question was frequently asked if the charges made in the papers were true, which I and all other members of the executive commit-

About the middle of March I again called the committee together at the Grand Hotel, and, following our adjournment, the same charges were made against our association by the same papers—that we intended to defeat Judge Coffey and organize the Legislature—and the papers concluded with the maxim "forewarned is to be forearmed," which was as false as the former charge. At every turn we encountered the above charges, to which we could only enter our denial. We never decided as charged, and, furthermore, such action was never advocated by us. Under date of April 4, 1894, one day before the publication of the Clay County Enterprise, of which issue I have a copy of April 5, 1894, I received a letter from Brazil, the home of Judge Coffey, which, in part, read as fol-

"I will send you a paper to-morrow or next day, the Clay County Enterprise, the only reliable Republican paper of this county, and the editor is O. K. against one S. D. Coffey with two other men of this city. We think we have eight or twelve delegates out of this county, with 100 or 300 of the leading Republicans of Brazil against him. I wish you would meet me at Indianapolis within the next few days." I answered this letter, telling the writer that the committee would meet the following Monday at the Grand Hotel. The writer of the Brazil letter met us; also, the son of the editor of the Clay County Enterprise, who claimed he was connected with the paper. He furnished us with a copy of their paper of April 5, 1894, in which the only charges I heard of were printed against Judge S. D. Coffey. Young Mr. Wolff informed us that he sent copies of said paper, properly marked, to every reliable paper in the State, and had sent a properly marked copy of said paper to every candidate upon the Republican State ticket, and also quite a number to other persons throughout the State. He furthermore stated that it was a fight to the death on the part of their paper against Judge Coffey. I then authorized him to five thousand circulars, and to send every one printed to me. In due time I received the five thousand circulars; the total number distributed by me did not exceed fifteen, which I sent only to the other members of our executive committee for advice and disposition. It was the unanimous decision of the committee not to enter into the Clay county fight. The remainder of the circulars have been left in possession of the Republican State central committee to confirm my statement as to the distribution of the circulars. On Monday, April 23, preceding the Republican State convention of April 25, the editor of the Clay County Enterprise called on me at my room at the Denison House, and I paid him $15 for five thousand circulars, and told him I still had the circulars. He was very bitter against Judge Coffey, and approved the charges as made by his son. On the same evening I was introduced to Judge Coffey, and was very pleasantly entertained. I asked him if he had authorized anyone in his behalf to make the statement that, as a member of the majority of the court in the case of Stout vs. Henderson, that their opinion in that case would be their decision in any case we might bring before the bench, which he indignantly denied, and said that his rule in all cases was not to decide a case until the same was submitted to him for decision, and then his only desire was to decide the case upon its merits. His explanation was satisfactory to me, and I so informed him, and the question was not re-ferred to again until a News reporter asked for an interview for Tuesday's paper, to which I consented, provided he would submit the interview to Judge Coffey for confirmation, which he did. This interview is, in the main, correct, though some of its conclusions were not. From Monday evening until Wednesday night, at the time of balloting, I told every county officer to whom I spoke that thought Judge Coffey a fair man, and that our association was not in the fight against him. I could not control, nor did I attempt to influence, a vote of a county officer for or against Judge Coffey. I never approached, nor did any member of our committee approach, either Judge Coffey or Jordan as to their views on what would be their decision in the cases that might be presented to them for their decision. It would be unbecoming in us to ask and beneath their standing to answer such demands. I was a delegate by proxy when the vote for judge of the Supreme Court was to be taken. Every delegation, as far as I could sec, had been materially reduced by absentees. The Hamilton county delegation only numbered 12 votes, counting delegates, alternates and proxies. I asked that we divide our vote equally between Judge Coffey and Judge Jordan, 6 and 6, if we voted those present, or 12 and 12 if we voted a full delegation. Other parties objected, and demanded polling the vote. We did so, and it resulted 8 votes for Coffey and 4 for Jordan. The Coffey delegates suggested that we cast a full vote, as other counties, and that we cast 20 votes for Coffev and 4 for Jordon. I objected, and demanded that if we cast the full vote of a full delegation that each candidate should be entitled to their ratio of votes cast by those present, which would be: Coffey, 16 votes; Jordon, 8, which was accepted, and the vote was cast in their proper ratio of

The above is a complete and true statement of the contest for the judgship, and now, in behalf of the County Officers' Association of Indiana, I most emphatically deny that there was any organized effort made by us to defeat Judge Coffey. As to individual differences or opinions held by county officers, or their individual efforts in either nominating or defeating Judge Coffey or Judge Jordan, I have nothing to say; that is their affair, and not ours; nor should our association be held responsible for their individual preference. Further-more, we are charged with working with the Liquor Association against Judge Coffey. I wish to say that such charge is false. We neither by word, letter or deed had any dealings with these efforts, if made by the Liquor Association. Personally, 1 think the judgment of the Supreme Court was a wise and just decision in the Stehlin case. I hope the above will be accepted to the same spirit it is given-of rendering unto each and all a fair and honorable adjustment. A. R. TUCKER, Chairman of County Officers' Association. justment.

The Indianapolis Sentinel of April 30 contains an interview purporting to have been held by a reporter of the Sentinel at this place with me. I deny the statements therein made, and further say that it does not state facts. KISSED AND MADE UP.

Patrolman Laird Put Two Warring Women on Good Terms.

Patrolman Laird acted the part of a peacemaker yesterday with great effect. Two women residing on North Pine street, whose husbands are in good circumstances, quarreled over a petty affair. The two had been close friends for several years. So strong was their friendship that whenever one bought anything new the first thing she did was to rush over to the other's house and show it to her and get her opinion about it. But yesterday afternoon the rain spoiled some arrangements the two had made for visiting, and this threw them into gloomy spirits. One said something exasperating that the other thought was aimed at her personally. Saucy words followed, and they started for each other. The fight was on, the two pulling each other's hair out in fistfuls. The women were about exhausted, when along strolled patrolman Laird. They stopped fighting as he came up, and he slowly went over the situation and showed the women how feeligh they the women how foolish they were. The women grew very red in the face, and signified their intentions of being good friends in the future. Laird then said, "Now, as both of you see how foolishly you have acted, just kiss and make up." The women looked at each other for only a second, and then put their arms around each other and kissed, after which they hurried to their homes to do their housework, none the worse for their experience excepting

The Grand Opera House held a fairsized audience last night when Mrs. Harriet A. Prunk's pupils presented the first of their two nights' entertainments. A little sketch from the German, used with much success at one time by Janauschek, was the first thing on the programme. It is known as "Come Here," from the fact that various ways of expressing those two words are exemplified by one of the characters, that of an actress who is supposed to be in a manager's office seeking a position. He wishes some evidence of her ability, and asks that she say "come here" to suit various situations which he describes. Miss Marguerite R. Vernon, one of this year's graduates from Mrs. Prunk's school, was extremely clever in this rather trying line, fitting the two words quite admirably to all the different occasions described by the exacting manager, who was well portrayed by Mr. Fred A. Sullivan, another of the graduates of the present year. Miss Vernon also recited the curse scene from 'Leah" with excellent effect. A German dialect recitation won Master

Blanchard Pettijohn a well-deserved en-core. In a scene from the "Love Chase," Miss Winifred Bonewitz, another of the graduates, appeared to capital advantage as Constance, while Mr. Sullivan was an admirable Master Wildrake. "Sunset," the beautiful little comedy adapted by Jerome K. Jerome from Ten-nyson's poem, "The Sisters," closed an enjoyable evening's entertainment. In this piece Miss Luna A. Lewis displayed a con-siderable degree of talent, her light comedy work in the early part of the play being followed by enough of pathos to stamp her as an actress of much more than ordinary Her closing scene earned for her and the other players an en-thusiastic encore, compelling the raising of the curtain after its fall upon the close of the piece. Miss Lewis appeared as Lois, who gave up her lover to her younger sister, the young man having made successful love to them both. The sacrifice was very prettily done last night. Miss Helena V. Weber was the other sister, Joan, and a very sweet character she made of it, her acting being quite as attractive as her personality. Miss Bonewitz was a typical old maid as Aunt Drucilla and made some fun for the audience, of which there is so frequently too little at an amateur entertainment. Mr. Sullivan played a thankless part very well. He was the lover, who in this instance was not regarded with any great degree of fa-vor by the audience. Mr. Sullivan will enter the professional ranks next season and should become successful. Mr. Thomas Hallinin was quite a success in the broad comedy character of Azariah Stodd, and E. Bradley was acceptable as the father. The entire performance evidenced the careful training of Mrs. Prunk's school of elocution and expression To-night Miss Vernon, Miss Bonewitz, Miss Lewis, Miss Weber, Miss Ruby Smith, Miss Anna McLaughlin, Miss Rhea Hall, Miss Nellie Sullivan, Mrs. Florence Mitchell Chandler, Miss Pauline Shaffer, Miss Edith Fulton, Miss Kathryn Winter, Edith Fulton, Miss Kathryn Florence Atkins, the Nellie and Florence Brown, Miss Drucilla Hoar and Mr. Fred Sullivan will appear in "As You Like It," Shakspeare's beautiful comedy. Mr. Sullivan plays Orlando, Miss Atkins, Rosalind and Miss Weber, Celia, the three characters around whom the play is written. The indications are that a large audience will be present at this the closing performance of Mrs. Prunk's fifteenth annual occasion of this

Otis Skirner and Victoria Bateman. A letter from Otis Skinner, now playing on the coast with Mme. Modjeska, announces that he will give up his plan to star in Shakspeare's plays next season and will confine himself to two plays that have been written especially for him. His Shylock as given here recently with Modjeska is, perhaps, his favorite character, and there will be no little disappointment if he decides to abandon it altogether. He has secured the handsome and talented Victoria Bateman as leading woman. There is much commendation of his new plays. Says

"In 'His Grace de Grammont,' Clyde Fitch has certainly done the best work of his life. It is absolutely unique. He has most admirably caught the spirit of the time, and his characters of De Grammont, Charles II, Miss Hamilton and Lady Cas-tlemaine stand out as strongly and freshly as the portraits of Kneller or Lely. As he said in a recent letter to me, he wrote most of the play in the shadow of Hampton Court, and he has been very faithful to his task. My other play is a new transla-tion of 'Le Roi S'Amuse,' by Victor Hugo, which I have christened "Triboulet.' Hugo's tragedy has never been done in America, except in the abbreviated and diluted form that Tom Taylor gave it under title of 'The Fool's Revenge.' The present adaptation is by a well-known author, and is an admirable piece of work. The profilgate court of Francis I forms a most dicturesque background for the drama. Percy Anderson, of London, will design the costumes, and Burridge, of Chicago, will paint the scenery. Both plays will be 'productions.' I shall retain the principal members of the Modjeska company. My tour begins in September at the Grand Opera House, Chicago, under the management of J. J. Buckley.

Park-"Little Trixie." Miss May Smith Robbins, a sprightly young comedienne, who is new to the local stage, began a half week's engagement at the Park Theater yesterday, presenting for the first time here a musical comedy drama, entitled "Little Trixie." Miss Robbins is a bright little woman, with a fair singing voice, pleasing personal appearance and withal a very clever per-former in her particular line. Her play has only the framework of rather an obscure plot, but it is sufficient to answer all demands, as it is only intended to allow the introduction of various songs, dances and other specialties. The best among features, however, were very good, and the performance as a whole is of a pleasing character. Amusement Notes. The performance to-night and two tothese is the work of Nat Franklin on a variety of musical instruments. Other morrow will conclude the engagement of Professor Kennedy at English's Opera First Arrest Under Vehicle Law.

Theodore W. Singleton, Henry Wing and H. W. Williams were each fined $1 and costs by Judge Stubbs, yesterday morning, for violating the vehicle license ordinance. These are the first arrests under this ordinance. The police have all been instructed to keep a close watch on all vehicles and arrest all persons who have not yet taken out licenses.

MOTHER'S FRIEND" is the greatest blessing ever offered child-bearing woman. I have been a offered child-bearing woman. I have been a mid-wife for many years, and in each case where "Mother's Priend" had been used it has accomplished wonders and relieved much suffering. It is the best remedy for rising of the breast known, and worth the price for that alone.
